Security for the Future.

An early peace is desirable, but a permanent peace more so. What the country expects and ought to have is security for the future.

If we cannot have lasting and solid peace in this country, the war ought to go on until it is accomplished. The basis of a tranquil future cannot be had while slavery exists.

If the corner-stone of our national edifice is slavery it will again crumble, and crush the liberties of the white race in its fall. Now that we have sacrificed so much, it is wiser and better for us as a people to destroy utterly the cause of this rebellion, so that in time to come we may have security against similar desolating civil wars—so that the nation may go forward in its high career of prosperity, without being troubled with the question of slavery.

It is our only note of discord—let us get rid of it while we have the opportunity. Any confiscation law which has not this for its primary object will fail of accomplishing any good.

To attempt to restore the Union as it was before the war is useless. We have made history which cannot be wiped out nor forgotten. The north and south will both remember those days with bitterness until this generation passes away.

A little matter may again spread the flames of civil war, if the great source of irritation is not now disposed of.

If our statesmen are wise, they will do it—if they are sensibly looking to future power, and for this object sacrifice the great interest of the nation, they will fail, and history will condemn them as men unworthy to guide a great nation in the crisis of its fate.

Those who think they will gain great honor and renown by being first to patch up a peace without reference to the establishment of just principles, may gain a short-lived popularity, but the judgment of mankind will be against them.

With great opportunities for good, such as statesmen never had before, if they come short of a nation's purification from wrong, now attainable, it would have been better that they had never lived.

CONFISCATION.—It is probable that the "confiscation" agitation in congress will eventuate in a measure that will meet the approval of the country.

Our advices from Washington state that, while a confiscation bill framed in conformity with the constitution can be passed almost unanimously in both houses, any sweeping measure, that would be reckless alike of the constitution and of an early peace, could not become a law at present.

The extremists, we are assured, have but little hope of carrying their measures, but for the sake of making political capital for home use, they will not abate their zeal of tongue and wind.—Chicago Journal.

There are a few republican papers which are continually talking in this way. We cannot make out what they mean. This paragraph looks very much as if it was written for the Times, and that the object of the writer was to have the punishment of the traitors as light as possible.

Is the Journal in favor of freeing all the slaves of the rebels? What property of rebels should be confiscated? If neither slaves nor property can be constitutionally confiscated, what should be the punishment of the rebels?

We do not ask these questions for the sake of discussion, but to know how far a republican may go without being an "extremist," in favor of punishing those who have sought to destroy the constitution and the country, and to murder as many of our fellow citizens as possible.

AN INCIDENT AT YORKTOWN.—The rebels were very careful of their lives during the operations at Yorktown. Berdan's sharpshooters were very troublesome, and had an unpleasant way of picking off the gunners in the rebel fortifications. At one of the most dangerous guns, these sharpshooters killed every man who made his appearance about it, until such a fear was excited no soldier would expose himself near it. In this emergency a negro was forced upon the rampart, and compelled to attempt to load the gun. He commenced to load when one of the sharpshooters picked him off. It was a "justifiable homicide," as the gun might have killed several of our men, it being in easy range.

It was altogether right to thus send "a nigger" to a certain death, but if a proposition had been made to give him his liberty, it would have constituted ample cause to rebel against the government. Great and humane is the "institution" of slavery!

An important arrest of a spy has just been effected by a detective, near this city. On the person of the spy valuable dispatches were found, containing a list of our forces and movements, directed to Gen. Magruder. The arrested person is well known here and in New York, and, it is alleged, has recently been in the government service.—Telegraph dispute.

It would hurt the feelings of this detected spy, and exasperate his friends, if he should be hung. Consequently, the oath of allegiance will be administered to him, and let him go to repeat his offence.

The Pacific railroad bill passed the house of representatives, yesterday, by a majority of 30.

Tribute of Respect to the Memory of Louis P. Harvey, late Governor of Wisconsin.

The citizens of Wisconsin now residents of and sojourning in Washington, met on Thursday, May 1st, in the room of the senate committee on Indian affairs, at the request of Hon. Jas. R. Doolittle, to pay a tribute of respect to the memory of Hon. Louis P. Harvey, late governor of Wisconsin, whose recent sudden death has thrown a shadow of gloom over the state of Wisconsin, and whose loss is so universally lamented and deplored.

On motion of Sen. Doolittle, Hon. A. D. Smith, of Milwaukee, was called to the chair.

On motion of Craig B. Beebe, of Beaver Dam, Norman Eastman, of La Crosse, was chosen secretary.

Judge Smith and Senator Howe made some very appropriate and feeling remarks touching the private and public character of Gov. Harvey which they were requested, by a vote of the meeting, to furnish for publication.

On motion of Sen. Doolittle, a committee was appointed, to draw up resolutions expressing the sense of the meeting, and their sympathies with the bereaved family in their deep affliction.

The chair appointed Hon. A. T. Gray of Janesville, G. B. Holden of Madison, and Hon. James Abrams of Milwaukee, as such committee, who reported as follows:

"Upon the occasion of the death of Louis P. Harvey, Governor of the state of Wisconsin, the citizens of Wisconsin resident in the city of Washington, assembled at the capitol, May 1st, 1862, desirous to manifest their grief, and to express to the people of Wisconsin, and to the relatives of the deceased, assurances of their heart-felt sympathy.

"Upon a thorough acquaintance with the public and private character of the deceased, they feel that the state of Wisconsin has lost a citizen whose integrity, unsullied and unquestioned, and whose intelligence, always appreciated as of the highest grade, commanded, as it should have done, the entire confidence of his fellow citizens of all classes and parties, and that his whole career in the state of Wisconsin, to the promotion of whose welfare his early manhood and his mature years were devoted, has reflected honor upon himself, and suberved the best interests of the people.

"They beg to tender to the widow of the deceased their assurances of profound sympathy in her bereavement, and to say that they will ever hold him in affectionate remembrance."

"They resolve to wear the usual badge of mourning thirty days, and direct that a copy of these proceedings be transmitted to the widow and friends of the deceased.

"As appropriate to the occasion, for which they have assembled—the death of the chief magistrate of the state in the discharge of the noblest duties pertaining to his position—they will express their profound gratification at the heroic manner in which the soldiers of Wisconsin, on every field to which they have been called, have discharged their duty to the federal Union."

On motion of Hon. A. T. Gray, it was resolved "that the papers of Washington be requested to publish the proceedings of this meeting."

TREACHERY SUSPECTED.

The telegraph tells this morning the most deplorable tale ever told in America, or, we believe, in the whole world. Two contemptible little steamers have come up to the great city of New Orleans—Inhabited by two hundred thousand souls, defended by miles upon miles of columbiads, and riddled canons, possessing six floating batteries of immense power, and containing within her bosom not less than thirty thousand disciplined troops—and have commanded the authorities to haul down the confederate flag! As we write, there had been no intelligence of its having been hauled down; but we are prepared to expect the worst.

Sailing through miles of the heaviest artillery, it does not appear that so much as a single shot was fired at these little steamers. On the contrary, everything seems to have been prepared beforehand for their quiet reception. The troops were immediately withdrawn lest they might feel disposed to domineer, all the defences on the lake were dismantled, the guns were thrown down without being injured, the steam-boats, that could have gotten up steam in an hour and been off, were burned, and the defenders were driven off to a distant point.

Never, since the world began, was there such a transaction—so dark, so mysterious, so altogether unaccountable.

The telegraph, thus far, gives a very confused account of this most mysterious and most deplorable affair. Terrible suspicions are afloat, but we hold it best not to give voice to them until something more definite shall have reached us.

NORFOLK AND RICHMOND MUST BE DEFENDED—JEFF. DAVIS SAYS HE WILL NEVER SURRENDER.

Correspondence of the Norfolk Day & Night.

RICHMOND, April 27.

The news from New Orleans, confirming the fall of that city, has been read here with sorrow, but we are not dispirited, and do not doubt our final success.

Norfolk and Richmond must be defended at all hazards, and it is high time that your forces should be more than doubled. Your city and the navy yard are of equal importance with Richmond. Not only is Norfolk and the navy yard of inestimable value to us, but the county of Princess Anne is indispensable in this crisis.

The delegation from South Carolina and Georgia waited on the president before congress adjourned, and urged him to withdraw the troops from those states, and at all hazards defend Richmond and Norfolk, and I think they are coming. Indeed, you would have thought so if you had seen, as I did, on Wednesday last, the South Carolina regiment, from Sullivan's Island, thirteen hundred strong, pass Chester, twelve miles from Richmond, and heard cheer after cheer resound through the forest for "Old Virginia"—she must and shall be free!

I conversed with a South Carolina officer on the same trip, who said that Savannah, too, but Richmond never. He said defense Richmond and Norfolk, cost what it may.

You have noticed in the papers a short account of President Davis' speech, lately made at Roanoke, to the soldier passing to Yorktown. It was the best short speech I ever heard him make. He said, so far as he was concerned, he would continue this war for twenty years, rather than one inch of Virginian soil should be surrendered. So let us hear no more about surrendering Virginia.

A MISTAKE ON THE BATTLE FIELD—TWO REBEL REGIMENTS FIRING INTO EACH OTHER.

From the Memphis Appeal.

I went into several camps and tried to get some list of killed and wounded, but found it impossible to get them correct. The battle field is so far from Corinth that another day or two must be allowed for stragglers or wounded to report themselves.

While engaged in that business, I learned from an eye witness what I believe to be the real cause of the misunderstanding which occurred on the battle field between some Louisiana and Tennessee regiments and induced our troops to fire into one another.—One of the general's aids had brought a message to the Tennesseans, then in line of battle front of one of the enemy's camps.

It seemed very much excited and very boisterous, riding at a furious rate along and through the line, dressed in a federal uniform, which he had procured from the enemy's camp, and which had evidently belonged to some field officer in the federal army. After this, as the regiment began to move on, he dashed through the camp, was mistaken by a Louisiana regiment for a federal officer leading his troops to a charge, and at once a fire was opened upon him, and the Tennessee troops moving behind, and returned by the latter. Before the mistake was discovered some casualties had occurred on both sides. I understand that the officer who created the difficulty was riddled with bullet and fell dead.

MRS. LINCOLN'S BROTHER DEAD.

From the New Orleans Delta.

Mr. Samuel B. Todd, brother of Mrs. Lincoln, died on the battle field of Shiloh of his wounds received in the action of the 7th of April. He was a gallant private in the Crescent regiment, and died in defense of his country against the hireling invaders whom the husband of his sister, Abraham Lincoln, sent to desolate our country and disinherit our people.

MORE WRITINGS ON THE WALL AT RICHMOND.

From the Richmond Examiner, April 22.

Yesterday morning the walls of the houses of Purcell, Ladd & Co., E. H. Spence & Co., Binford & Porter, the Powhatan House, and other conspicuous establishments about town were covered with incendiary and blasphemous writings, a verbatim copy of some of which we give below. The writing was in fair, round and deliberate hand, and all evidently performed by one and the same person—the writing in the various places named being identical in character.

The dirty work must have been begun before the street lamps were extinguished at 12 o'clock on Saturday night, as it could not possibly be accomplished in the dark. We are confirmed in this opinion by the fact that the writing is in the neighborhood of the lamps.

From the Richmond Examiner, April 22.

Twenty mortar and three gunboats were engaged against the forts, silencing them after six days incessant firing. The chains across the river were removed by our gunboats. The rebels sent fire rafts down the river, but they did little damage. One set set to the Hartford, but she was speedily extinguished.

The Verona and rebel iron clad steamer Webster had a splendid engagement. The Webster running into the Verona and sinking her, but before going under, the Verona's crew poured in a volley of eight guns, so destructive and crushing that both the Webster and Verona went down together.

A report is current here, and generally believed, that Corinth was evacuated last night, and that our troops are now in full possession.

Special to the Times from Cairo.—Steamer Welsh reached here this morning from Pittsburg Landing. Our army is so far advanced from the river that nothing is known of its movements. A drenching rain was falling, which had continued 24 hours without intermission. A report is current that Pope's army occupied Corinth Sunday. A few regiments of rebels were posted in front, and who are said to have been taken prisoners.

CHICAGO, May 6.

A special to the Journal from Paducah says Jeff. Thompson is in western Kentucky with 1,000 cavalry. He came across a company of Curtis' Nebraska horse, yesterday, near Dresden, and scattered them in every direction. No loss of life. Quite an excitement exists in the country on account of this raid of Jeff.

MONEY TO LOAN.

Seven hundred dollars will be loaned on mortgage security. For particulars apply at this office.

DEATH IN THE FOURTH REGIMENT.—We learn that a letter has just been received by the father of Mr. A. G. Gonsolus announcing the death of his son in the hospital at Ship Island. Mr. Gonsolus was our correspondent "Gun," and was, before his enlistment, a pupil in the Albion Academy. His parents reside in Oregon, Dane county. He was a young man of more than usual worth and promise.

ACCIDENT.—Major Eastman, of the 2d Wisconsin cavalry, was badly injured in St. Louis, Saturday, May 5th, by his horse suddenly falling with him on the pavement while turning a street corner. His right arm was broken above the elbow, and his left foot and ankle were severely bruised. He was removed to the Planters' House, and is doing well.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—Yesterday, while a wood train was in motion, at Jefferson, Thomas Doyle of this city, a workman on the train, attempted to get upon one of the cars, and fell upon the track. His left leg was so badly crushed that amputation below the knee was necessary.

NOTICE.—The tea party at the Primitive Methodist church, last evening, passed off most satisfactorily. The tables were most plentifully supplied with provisions, the company was numerous, and all appeared to enjoy themselves. The ladies who furnished the tables are worthy of all praise for their attention and industry, and I hereby tender them the warmest thanks of the pastor and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Sharpe; and I would also thank the friends who attended on the occasion, and may we all finally feast together in the paradise of God. Amen.

MEETING IN JOHNSTOWN.—The citizens of the town of Johnstown assembled on the 1st of May to render their tribute of respect to the memory of the late Gov. Harvey. There was a large attendance and appropriate exercises, including an excellent address by the Rev. J. Watts.

PARSON BROWLOW'S BOOK.—Mr. E. H. Blair is now in this city as an agent for Parson Browlow's book, giving a narrative of his own and the persecutions of Union men in Tennessee. It will be a work of thrilling interest, and will obtain a large circulation throughout the north. The subscription price is $1.25.

Temperance.

Messrs. Editors:—While our sons, our brothers, and our fathers are enlisted to put down the rebellion in the south, many that are true patriots who are left at home do not seem to be aware that there is an insidious foe at work in our very midst, who is seeking to destroy bright intellects, and making sad inroads on our best institutions, by debasing those minds who should support and be benefited by them; even following our army like a moral pestilence, as it is, disqualifying both general and private from the duties of camp and field, and demoralizing the best army of volunteers that ever took up arms against a foe. And this fact, disguising as it well must stand out on the page of history as it is written up for future generations, side by side with the evil of slavery. Then can any one say he has nothing to do because his influence or capacity is not like some other one? For in a government like ours no one can shirk the responsibility; and it is true that if those who stand at the head of our army, as its generals and colonels, would disown the use of intoxicating liquors it would work a reform in the right direction, and one which would tell in the future of this nation.

Perhaps some of your readers may not be aware that there is a temperance organization in the state, and that something is being done in this direction, but such is the fact. The Sons of Temperance maintain an existence, and are gaining ground as an order well calculated to benefit communities.

The Grand Division met in Whitewater on the 16th of April, but the attendance was small, owing to the bad state of the roads at the time; yet much business of importance was transacted for the advancement of temperance and the good of the order. The National Division will meet in June at Hamilton, C. W. All we need is the united effort of men good and true to stand by a principle, and labor in the "cause of all mankind." They need be none the less patriots or republicans by so doing. Any communications relating to the organization of new divisions addressed to A. H. Edwards, G. S., Beaver Dam, Wis., or to B. S. Hoxie, G. W. P., Cockville, Rock county, will be promptly attended to. Truly yours,

H.

NEW YORK, May 5.
The Times special from Yorktown has the following:

"The retreat of the rebels appears to have been precipitate. They commenced dismounting and carrying off their guns to Williamsburg four days ago. Wagons have been engaged in transporting ammunition, provisions, camp equipment, &c., for over a week past. Their sick, numbering over 2,500, were sent to Richmond over 10 days ago. The rebel soldiers and negroes were working on their intrenchments until two o'clock this morning, when their rear guard ordered the work to cease, and the men to take up their arms to Williamsburg."

HEALTH & STRENGTH SECURED,

BY THE USE

By the use of these pills the periodic attacks of Nervous or Sick Headache may be prevented; and if taken at the commencement of an attack immediate relief from pain and sickness will be obtained.

They soon fall in removing Nausea and Headache to which females are subject.

They are gentle upon the bowels—removing Constipation.

For Literary Men, Students, delicate females, and all persons of sedentary habitation, they are valuable as a Zeratic, improving the appetite, giving tone and vigor to the digestive organs, and restoring the natural vitality and strength of the whole system.

The CEPHALIC PILLS are the result of long investigation and carefully conducted experiments, having been in use many years, during which time they have proven and relieved a vast amount of pain and suffering from headache, wher' er originating in the nervous system or from a derangement of the stomach.

They are entirely safe—in their composition and may be taken at all times, with perfect safety without risking any change of life, and the absence of disagreeable taste renders it easy to administer the children.

Horse Infirmary.

D.R. HORNE,
VETERINARY SURGEON,

Late of the Buffalo Horse Infirmary,

SENIOR member of the College of Veterinary Surgeons, Philadelphia, Pa., would institute to the owners of horses, in Janesville and vicinity, to be had ready for sale, at a nominal price, a suitable stable for the accommodation of a horse infirmary, and to furnish the same with all necessary fixtures, and to have the same kept by a man specially qualified to attend to the wants of the infirmary.

To meet this want, and to produce a work of permanent value as well as of present interest, the publisher has arranged with the issues of the history as above set forth, in a form and at a price which shall render it accessible to all.

This history will tell the Story of 1861, giving a clear, consecutive narrative of the entire movement, including the causes, progress, results, and termination, and containing the important documents and extracts from the masses of the rumors, reports, dispatches, and editorials of the daily newspapers, to precipitate from its community of 1861, the life of Washington, and the incidents of the struggle for the Union.
